Retailing of Goods

If you intend to retail the stock we supply at additional retail locations, physical or online, you must obtain permission from us at ettitude in writing. This is only in situations where an order is not going to be sold at the same address it is being sent, or the online store has a different name to that of your store.

Exclusivity

ettitude values its regular stockists and only accepts a handful of stockists at any one time. When we receive a new stockist application we look in detail at our existing representation in the area and we make a decision based on the regularity and annual spend of any other stockists in the same region. We consider stockist arrangements to be lapsed if there are no orders within a 12-month period.
